tx for response:

graf 3 not needed

we will use this only if further questioned about SSO, and only if questioning presses on why no EPA role.

It's slightly more than three sentences--it's three very short paragraphs--but this should capture what Karl is looking for in item #3, below. Let me know if this works for you.

Under rules approved by EPA in April 1994, the State of Missouri (through the Missouri Department of Natural Resources) holds regulatory authority over the permitting and operation of landfills in the state, including West Lake Landfill.

Prior to 1991, there was no national framework or guidelines to regulate solid waste disposal. At Congress' direction EPA developed such regulations under the authority of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. In 1993, Missouri asked that its solid waste management program be deemed sufficient to meet federal standards, and in April 1994 EPA made that determination.

Congress did not specifically design a delegated program for solid waste management. It should be noted that Missouri was one of the first states in the nation to receive approval from EPA for its solid waste management program.

Karl would like the following by Friday at the latest:

1. determine if MDNR has ever asked for our assistance with the Landfill fire --- do a records search to verify and obtain any copies.
2. CNSL can you get the delegation language regarding Subtitle D delegation to the States and the date
3. OPA, could you develop a 3 sentence sound bite regarding the delegation
